To do this, one needs to put them in a box. In this case, I need to put three boxes side-by-side. I came up with something like this In[3]:= FBoxes[{A, B, C, D}] And here's the result I don't want the boxes, just the gray lines. How can I get rid of the boxes? Also, I want the dashed line to go around the entire circle. A: Using your FBoxes[...]: FBoxes[{A, B, C, D}] The output is : This is what you are looking for : How it works : let's say you want to make a box in the output like this : Now you need to proceed as follows, select the gray lines (they are the top and the bottom lines), delete the boxes (you can use the Shift+Delete key combination), repeat the process for the sides and then you get that output (the top and bottom lines are bent according to the box you have made earlier) : If you want the dashed lines to go around the circle you can use this code : FBoxes[{A
